

CULTIVATE WHAT MATTERS

Fill in the garden plots below with what's taking up space in your life now.
Include the weeds that are growing that you want to pull.

What's growing now

GROW GOOD THINGS

What do you want to fill your life with moving forward? Feel free to get creative here with color, stickers, words, and more! Cultivate what matters. Cultivate what lasts longer than you.

What I want to CULTIVATE

The workspace is a large orange-bordered area containing several white rectangular sections for writing. The sections are arranged in a grid-like fashion. Some sections are decorated with green leaves or red roses. The top right section has four columns of green leaves. The middle left section has a grid of green leaves. The bottom right section has a grid of red roses. The bottom middle section has a grid of green leaves. The other sections are empty white space for writing.